

3 Examples Interactions

Humans and Machines

Machine

Machine automates

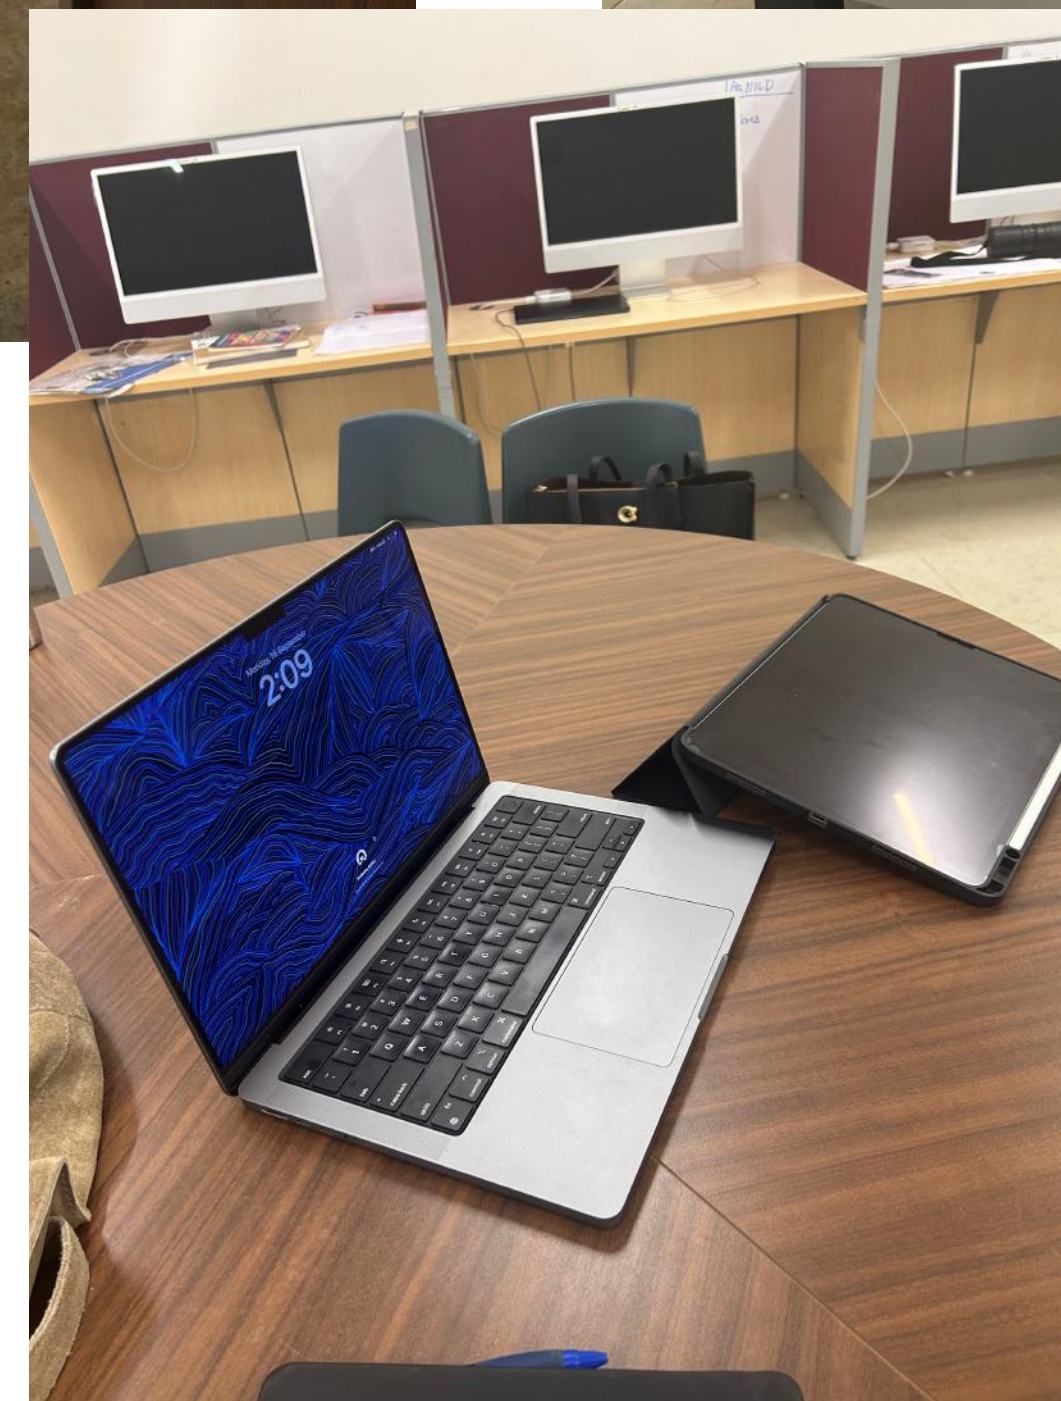

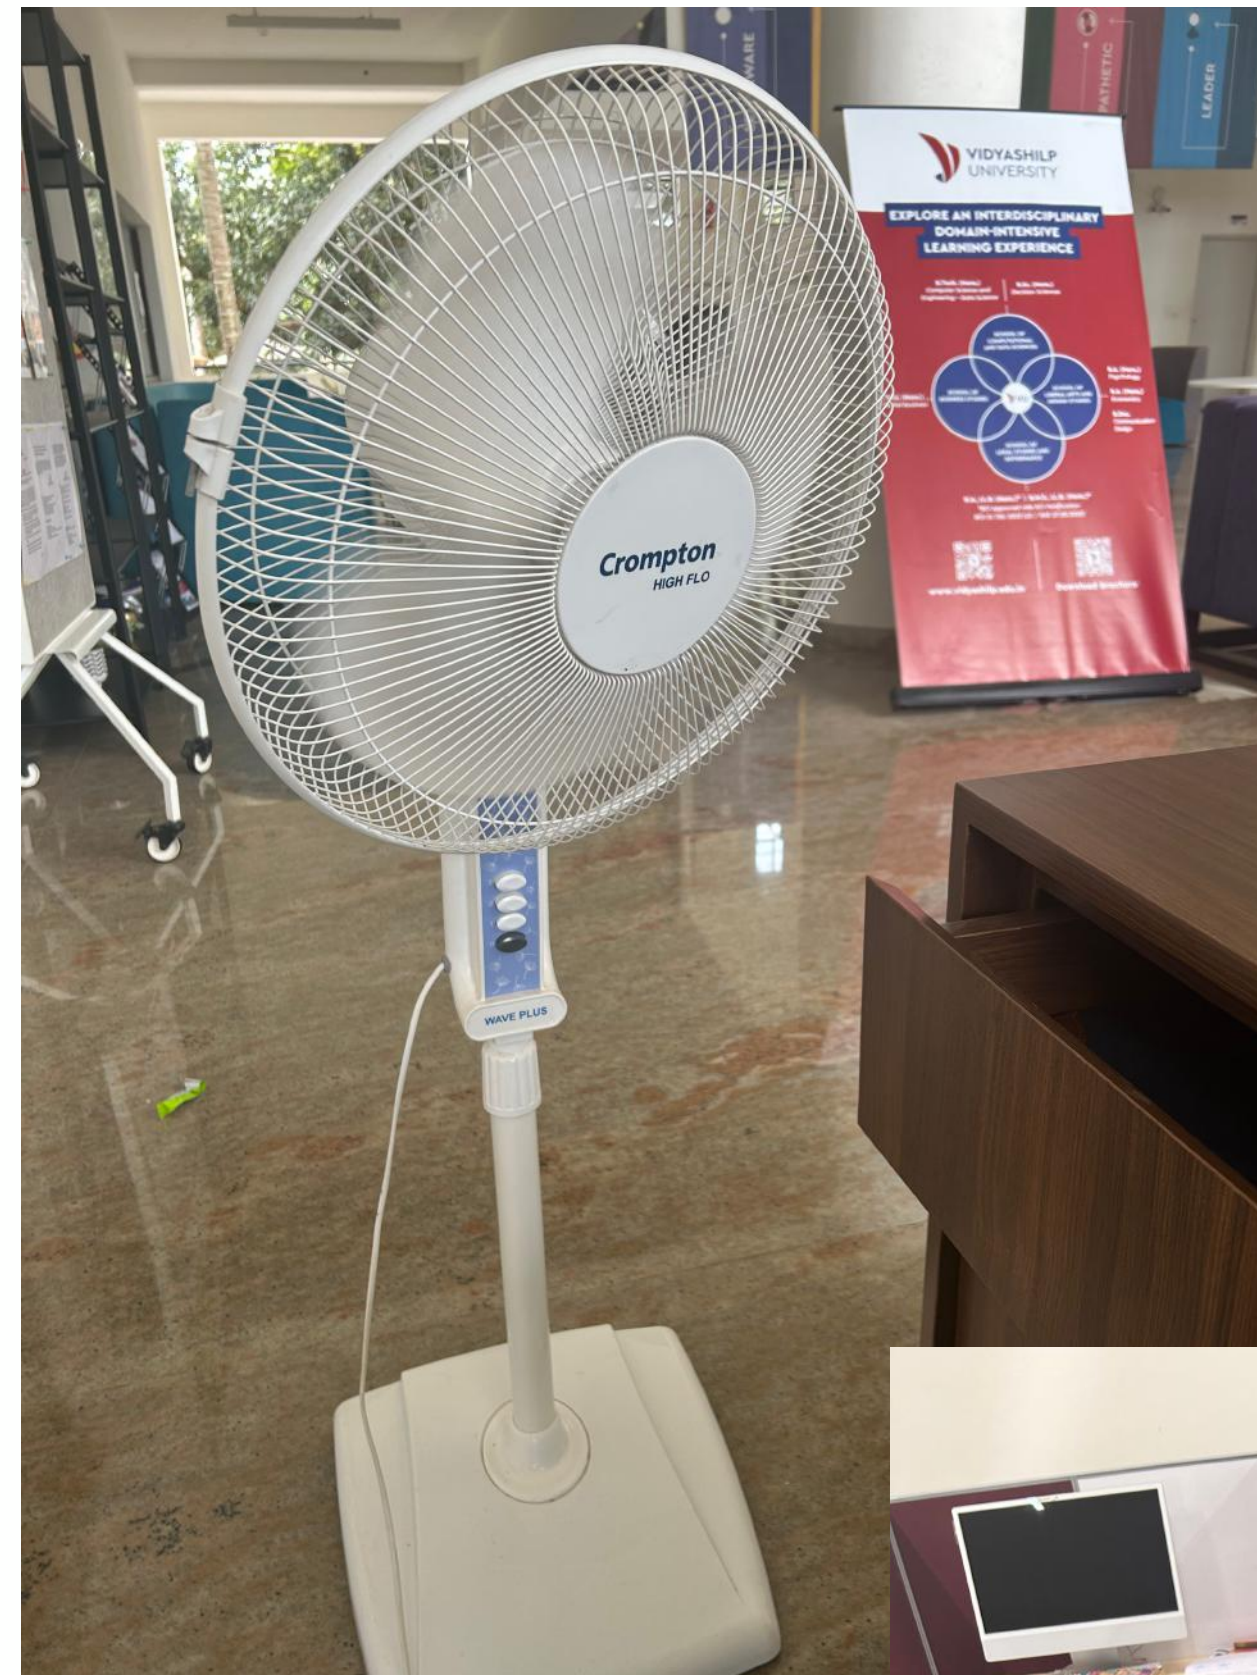

- The staff log in machine automatically takes the date day and time of the time that the staff comes and leaves the college just with a finger print which helps in keeping track of the attendance.

Equal

human and machine

- The fan that needs a user to pick the speed and direction according to their needs and the fan works accordingly
- Or the vending machine that gives the product chosen by the user
- Laptops and electronics when worked on the user needs o give the input for the electronic to function in a particular manner

Human

Human controlled

- The scooter can function only based on the way the user rides it
- The telephone needs the user to put in the phone number and speak into it for it function

